I use a custom keyboard definition containing many macros. Since I can't always remember which macro I assigned to which key, I created a macro, included as KBMAP.WPM, that takes me into the Keyboard: Edit screen and allows me to look at my key assignments and descriptions for each macro.

To see (or modify) the listing of your macros on the current keyboard, play the macro. When you're through, press (Enter) to return to the document screen.
